RAINY SEASON ISN'T RAINY: Asks Rate Hike DRIEST KNOWN

The first four months of the current rain season have been the driest since the First National Bank in San Rafael started keeping rainfall records in 1875.

The total rainfall from Sept. 1 to the end of the year was a trifling 2.64 inches, the bank reported. The lowest previous total for the same period was 3.17 inches in 1883, with the next lowest being 3.41 inches in 1939.

The normal total to Jan. 1 is just under 13 inches. Last year it was 15.94 inches.

Partisans Take Over All Cuba; End Is Near

HAVANA, Cuba (A) -Fidel Castro triumphantly proclaimed former Judge Manuel Urrutia temporary president of Cuba today and sent the vanguard of his bearded guerrilla fighters rolling into Havana.

All Cuba appeared within the grasp of the 32-year-old rebel leader whose relentless pressure sent President Fulgencio Batista and his civilian and military chiefs fleeing into exile yesterday.

UNDISPUTED CONTROL Even before the first truck-

NEW ELEMENTARY SCHOOL FOR NOVATO

Architect John Lyon Reid of San Francisco has sketched his concept of what the $302,888 Lu Sutton Elementary School will look like when completed on a site off Center road near Crescent court. The school, to contain 12 regular classrooms, a kindergarten, a special classroom for ungraded children, a library and administrative offices, is hoped for completion in time for start of classes in the fall. School administrators have said that the building may eliminate the need for split-day sessions for the district, at least temporarily. The low bid for construction of the school by the Reynolds Construction Co. of Santa Rosa was recently accepted by the Novato School Board.

'I AIN'T MAD' A two-car crash on Puerto SAYS RETIRING

SACRAMENTO (A) - Gov. Goodwin J. Knight told his final news conference today he'll leave office Monday with no regrets and no grudges.

"I ain't mad at nobody," he said.

With this lighthearted valedictory, the outgoing Republican governor coupled a serious warning against any further attempts to weaken the powers of the state's chief executive officer.

"The constant effort of the Legislature to dilute the power of the governor is, in my judgment, a long step backward," he said.

R. Mudrick of San Francisco, in which she was a passenger, smashed into a utility pole in Fairfax.

Bridegroom Tries To Blow Up Plane, Fails, Kills Himself

TOKYO (A)-Thirty passengers and crew of an airliner narrowly escaped death today when a bridegroom attempted to blow the plane apart. The attempt failed and bridegroom leaped into the sea, a suicide.

A spokesman for the All-Japan Airways said a confectionery wholesaler, Akira Emoto, 31, tried to blow up himself and the plane with 25 sticks of dynamite.

He said Emoto failed, and opened the plane's door and jumped to his death in the

The spokesman said the dynamite and a burned-out fuse were found in the lavatory and two more sticks in Emoto's baggage.

The plane was flying at about 2,500 feet when Emoto jumped.

He and his bride, Chieko, 19, ular blasting drills can pierce were traveling to visit their only about one foot of the rock relatives. She could give no explanation for his action.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY IN THE INDEPENDENT-JOURNAL

A WEEK OF GOOD READING

PROFILE OF THE WEEK-Theosophilis Barron, San Rafael's only Negro businessman, is subject of tomorrow's profile in Marin Magazine. The son of a Baptist minister and grandson of a slave, he spent the greater part of his 51 years searching for his life's faith. Then, a little over a year ago a customer came into his shoe repair shop and left him with two books . . . and the germ of a new career.

ONE OF A SERIES - Each week an Independent-Journal staff writer explores the character, achievements and human side of one of Marin's outstanding personalities some of whom are all too little known by their neighbors.

Mansion Of Governor May Be Replaced

SACRAMENTO (A) - A new house for California's first family?

The state Division of Architecture has nearly completed a report on possible replacements for the 81-year-old Executive Mansion.

It's being kept under wraps until submitted to the Legislature convening Monday.

However, it was learned, the report will offer three or four alternate sites for a new governors' home with appropriate architectural styles and estimated costs:

ONE WAY OR OTHER

State Architect Anson Boyd said he hopes it will "kill or cure" talk of a new mansionat least for a while.

The 1957 Legislature ordered the study. Earlier Legislatures talked about a new mansion. One even appropriated the money to build it. Another bought the land. But that's as far as it went.

The $250,000 appropriation reverted to the state treasury when former Gov. Earl Warren said the money was more urgently needed for state in

Batista Blames Lack Of Manpower

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (A) - Fulgencio Batista figures his army fought a lost cause in Cuba partly because it had an insufficient edge in manpower over Fidel Castro's rebels.

The dictator who fled into exile here yesterday told newsmen it has been calculated that an army would need 100 men for each guerrilla it fought.

"That was the case of Tito in Yugoslavia and the Chinese Communists," Batista said, referring to Tito's World War II campaign against the Germans and Mao Tze-tung's drive against Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists.

Batista's 37,000-strong armed forces were estimated to outnumber Castro's men perhaps 6-1 even in the last stages of caused Batista to flee.

He gave left-handed praise to Castro's bushwhacking tactics, saying the rebel chieftain got the jump on the government by restricting his activities at first to guerrilla warfare against rural soldiers not trained for that type of fighting.

The big, sturdy, low-voiced revolutionary was born Aug. 13, 1926, to a Spanish father and an aristocratic Cuban mother. The senior Castro, a rich sugar cane and cattle rancher, died in 1956 and left his six children a fortune. By that time Fidel and his brother, Raul, had dedicated their all to the deposition of Batista.

What compelled this sixfoot, 200-pound scholar-athlete to abandon the comfortable life of a provincial lawyer for the rough existence of a guerilla leader in the tropical forests of southern Cuba is still something

By LEON C. SMITH

There's no question about it ... the folks who get the most out of life are the ones who have the curiosity to be interested in the people and places around them. A good example is Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth . . . 80 years old. President of a business management company, and mother of 12 children. That's quite a record . . . yet she still isn't satisfied. At an age when many folks have been glued to the old rocking chair for years, she is touring the world and giving talks . . . and having the time of her life. In 1959 she plans a trip to Greece, and in 1960 she'll head for Australia and the Hawaiian Is-Seems like planning ahead and anticipating the future can add years to our life and life to our years.

In Chicago a year old baby fell from a second story window, bounced off a clothes line and landed right side up and unhurt in her baby carriage. That's really a bouncing baby girl. This man of destiny, for whom thousands have laid down their lives, first caught the attention of Cubans when he broke off his studies in 1947 to take part in an abortive attempt to overthrow the Trujillo regime in the Dominican Republic.

When he returned to the University of Havana he gained nationwide attention as the president of the Radical University Students' Federation, a breeding-ground for the revolutionary movement-to-be. He went underground when Batista seized the government by coup in 1952, but on July 26, 1953, he emerged as the leader of 200 young men in a vain attack on the Moncada barracks stronghold in San-

Thus with one heroic gesture, which cost the lives of half his fighting force, Castro established himself as a leader of the opposition to Batista's dictatorship. He named his movement the "28 de Julio" in honor of his comrades' sacrifice. Castro was captured after the Santiago incident and spent two years of a 15-year sentence in jail. After a period of exile in the United States, he returned to Cuba in 1956. Yet even now, five and a half years after beginning the "26 de Julio" revolt, his political orientation is not completely clear.

Castro swears he is strongly opposed to communism, but his second-in-command, brother Raul, is known to have spent two weeks behind the Iron Curtain attending an international student congress.

Castro's announced program, when he invaded Cuba two years ago, was for quick nationalization of the nation's industries, but he has since watered down his economic program as a sop to U. S. opposition to drastic socialistic measures.

Today, Castro stands for extension of social security and a broadened program of industrialization to solve Cuba's chronic poverty and unemployment. He has called for land reform, limiting the amount of land any one plantation owner can hold. He wants to end government corruption, to re-establish political freedom and freedom of the press.

Jack Spikes, the rumbling TCU fullback voted the game's outstanding back, missed field goal attempts from the 35 and 29 yard lines.

George Pupich of the Air Force missed three from the 12, 24 and 42.

Virtually every deep penetration by each team ended in a field goal attempt, a lost fumble or a stolen pass.

Spikes was the only one to offer a reason for all the fumbling. "We had a hard time hanging on to the ball," he said in an understate. ment. "I believe it was because we haven't hit real tough in the last two weeks, our timing was way off."

Ben Martin, Falcon coach, said "It was our best defensive game of the year . . ." but, "we created several offensive erof good sportsmanship dur- rors."

EDITH P. SAPPINGTON Mental health speaker

U.S. Health Dept. Aide To Speak

Dr. Edith Pasmore Sappington, regional medical director of the Children's Bureau, U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, will be guest speaker at a luncheon meeting Monday at the home of Mrs. John Forsham, 31 Hilarita road, Mill Valley, under auspices of the Women's Alliance, Unitarian Church of Marin.

A Sausalito resident, Dr. Sappington will talk on "Prevention of Delinquency in the Field of Mental Health."

Dr. Sappington is a sister of Mrs. Edward O. Allen of San Anselmo, president of the Unitarian Women's Alliance.

Ferry Converted To Restaurant Back At Sausalito

The venerable auto ferry Charles Van Damme, which left Sausalito a year ago for Oakland to become a floating restaurant, is back in Sausalito again.

The floating restaurant was a venture of Patrick C. Warfield, former San Francisco advertising man. It was moored at the foot of Broadway. First named the Paddle Wheel, it was subsequently renamed the Canton Ferry and converted to a Chinese restaurant.

The Van Damme was returned to Sausalito last week by Jerry Kalfos, original owner of the hull, who said it was "being stored in Sausalito to protect my interests." It was reported that the restaurant failed to open for business last week.

Kalfos said future plans for the old ferry are indefinite. The Van Damme was the first auto ferry to ply between Pt. Richmond and Pt. San Quen-

It is the largest contributor in the United States to Youth Aliyah. Since 1939, 80,000 children have been rescued from Europe who, in all probability, would have perished if not for Youth Aliyah and its staunchest supporter, Hadassah.

One of Hadassah's newest projects, due to be completed in 1961, is its twenty-five million dollar medical center and university now under construction just outside Jerusalem. The hospital is for all peoples, and will have a capacity of 500 beds. On Tuesday at the Fashion Focus Luncheon proceeds from a special award will go to the new hospital.

Starting the New Year right will be 11 attractive Marin models, all members of Hadassah, showing the newest in cruise wear and spring fashions chosen especially for the Tuesday show by Sarrae's. Belts are back, accenting the tiny waist and flat midriff.

Perhaps this is because U.S. firms were the first to develop mass production of beachwear, and because American girls were the first to take to water sports as a natural feminine activity.

Whatever the reason, the American bathing suit is now a completely international institution, seen wherever girls go swimming or sunning.

Some companies go further with the international theme by employing designers from other countries-France, Italy and Hawaii in particular. But the suits are produced with American methods and the built-in figure controls that have made U.S. bathing beauties the world's ideal.

Larkspur Bethel Holds First Practice Meet

Bethel 246, Larkspur, of the International Order of Job's Daughters held the first meeting of the new winter-spring term recently.

Newly - installed honored queen, Sue Reed, presided over the practice meeting. Mrs. Murial Jockish, guardian, and William Reed, associate guardian, both of Bethel 246, were escorted to the East.

Mrs. Jockish installed, as director of sociability, Mrs. Mabel Bickle.

Plans were made to take cookies and other gifts to the children at Sonoma State Hospital. The Sonoma State Hospital is a home for mentally retarded people of all ages. During the summer and fall many of the members of Bethel 246 visited and brought gifts of coloring books and crayons to the hospital.

What Is Toughest Problem Facing Us In Year Ahead?

What is the toughest problem facing Marin County in 1959?

We can think of many tough ones. Just off-hand we think of our still-inadequate road system, our ever-present school problems, our obsolete and inadequate county farm and juvenile hall, our need for considerable flood control works and many others.

But unquestionably the toughest problem of all is getting the money to do what needs to be done.

How can we get the money without boosting taxes past the point of diminishing returns?

Almost everybody knows the answer these days: attract new industries to "broaden the tax base."

The type and kind of industry suitable for Marin is limited. Finding suitable industry and attracting it here is most difficult.

We cannot think of a better industry for Marin, however, than tourism and we have the natural prerequisites for attracting tourists in substantial numbers. The problems relating to tourism have been discussed here before and we will not devote space to them again today. Suffice it to say that the Marin Visitors Bureau of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce seems to be making increasing progress toward the development of a first-class tourist industry for Marin.

Similarly, the Marin Development Foundation has made and is making continuing progress toward attracting more and more suitable light industries to Marin.

It is in this connection that we would like to warn of a dark cloud on the

The land areas suitable for industry in Marin are quite limited.

Considerable of an area of Corte Madera lying between Highway 101 and the bay was projected for industrial use. Now it is being developed as a residential area, lost to industry.

The same thing is about to happen in the East San Rafael area which previously was conceived as an industrial area but now is about to be diverted to apartment development.

We note that the city of Millbrae down on the peninsula recently adopted a policy of "standing fast" on industrial zoning and refusing henceforth to permit its development for residential or apartment use.

If Marin is not to lose its precious little land suitable for industry, we may have to take a leaf from Millbrae's book and "stand fast" against further diver-

In a larger sense, Marin's most pressing problem of 1959 may be the conservation of potential industrial areas.

THE HOME HAS THE ANSWER

Home chores are a big factor in preventing juvenile delinquency, according to Mrs. J. J. Shadgett, a police matron in Ontario, Can-

"A job around the home creates a sense of contribution and helps a child to happy, healthy adjustment," she stressed.

After 9 years of experience in dealing with of discipline is the basis for most family problems. Parents who take the path of least resistance when youngsters are small can blame themselves when troubles arise. Complete self-expression as advocated a few years ago has taken a disastrous moral toll among today's youngsters.'

The home is the ideal school in which to train young people to recognize that the moral law is part of God's plan for order and harmony on earth. Such training will make them more receptive to authority and responsibility and more disposed to fulfill their share of obligations through life.

"Command your children that they do justice and that they be mindful of God." (Tobias 14:11)

Last year was the biggest recession year since the war, with as many as 5,200,000 unemployed. By year's end the United States had bounced back. But millions are still jobless and living costs, though steady in recent months, threaten to resume their rise.

This year looks good for jobs and business. But no economist is brave enough, or stupid enough, to predict . there won't be more recessions, and perhaps worse ones.

IN NOVEMBER the voters showed overwhelming lack of faith in the Republican party. Yet President Eisenhower, whose faltering leadership has failed to give his party a sense of newness or direction, remains highly popular.

The United States entered 1958 in gloom and doubt about its ability and its destination. The Russians, with their Sputniks of 1957, were ahead in the space age.

Americans asked themselves: Can we catch up? What's happened to us?

By year's end the United States had lifted into orbit first some tiny satellites and then the huge Atlas. It also sent two atomic-powered submarines under the North Pole.

Heretofore, bills have been assigned immediately on introduction, and there has been little opportunity for "consultation" with the speaker regarding the steering of the legislation.

Of course, it has not been difficult, if bills went to the wrong committee, or to a committee some of the lobbyists would rather not see handle them, to request a reassign-

It is pretty much a foregone conclusion that bills will not be introduced in the Legislature as fast at the 1959 session as they have in the past, due to the constitutional change in legislative procedure. It is also assumed that following the 30-day period at the beginning of the Legislature, during which bills cannot be heard, that work should at least proceed faster, as the legislators will have had more time to study and make up their minds on the mea-

Its first step will be to mount a nationwide campaign to create a climate of public opinion aimed to encourage management and labor voluntarily to hold down the wageprice spiral which threatens the whole economy.

But the White House may let it be known that if voluntary brakes on ever-rising wages and prices - which outdistance all increase in productivity and create the most ominous inflation - go unused, then some form of compulsion by law will be inevit-

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER doesn't want to deal with wage-price inflation by compulsion; he doesn't want to inject government into this aspect of the economy. But my information is that he has reached the conclusion that in the interests of everybody, primarily 170,000,000 consumers, the inflation spiral has got to be checked and that if labor and management will not do what is needed voluntarily, legislation cannot be indefinitely held off. Undoubtedly the State of the Union message will give the cue to Eisenhower's intentions and the President's economic report a few days later will deal predominantly with the inflation problem.

IT WOULDN'T be surprising if the President devoted a major television speech to an appeal to labor and management to hold future wage increases under productivity increases so that nearly every wage rise would not be fought by a price rise — thus keeping the spiral of inflation constantly in motion.

Cabinet members, particularly Secretary of Labor Mitchell. Secretary of Commerce Strauss and Secretary of the Treasury Anderson, would carry forward the President's appeal in a series of meetings with union leaders and business men.

But the case for voluntary labor - management action would also be made to the whole country because it is evident that so far both union officials and businessmen have been acting on the premise that the consumer would continue to pay the price of inflationary wages and prices without going on a buyers'

THERE IS NO WAY to halt the march of inflation unless any rise in wages and profits is kept to the rise in productivity. But wages alone have increased twice as much as productivity in recent years. The objective of the Administration is to create a public opinion which will persuade both labor and business that putting up wages by putting up prices is at a point where it can be disastrous for the whole economy.

WHAT METHOD of coercion the Administration will want to have in reserve has not yet been decided. Conceivably it could take the form of the proposal advanced by Dr. Nathanial H. Engle, professor of marketing, transportation and foreign trade at the University of Washington. His proposal: Limit all wage and cost increases, including profits, to two-thirds of the yearly increase in productivity. The other third should go to decrease prices.

If a few bellwether industries would put such a formula into effect voluntarily, it might take hold without compulsory legislation.

LAUNCHED IN CHAMPAGNE -- A blonde young actress, Cindy Robbins (above), who hopes to entrench her bubbling personality at Hollywood's champagne-income level, is getting what her studio calls its "Champagne Publicity Buildup." They insist she wash her hair with champagne, drive a champagne-colored convertible, wear dresses of champagne hue and of course drink nothing in public but (AP Wirephoto) one beverage.

Plan Burnings Of Yule Trees

Four Marin communities have scheduled public Christmas tree burning ceremonies. with two set for Sunday evening and the others for Tuesday - traditional "Twelfth Night."

Residents of Novato have been invited by the Novato Volunteer Fire Department to turn in Christmas trees for a public burning ceremony at 6 p.m. Sunday on Carmel drive off Seventh street.

"The firemen are doing this to help everyone remove the danger of fire by leaving the dry Christmas tree around the house," said Verne Long of the volunteer firemen.

In Ross, the tree burning Sunday will be in connection with religious services at St. Jewish Center John's Episcopal Church.

Independent-Journal, Friday, January 2, 1959 25

PISA, Italy (UPI)-A group of French tourists tried to correct the lean of the famed Pisa Tower after a New Year's eve party yesterday.

They drove from the hotel where they were celebrating to the leaning tower, hooked one end of a steel cable to the base of the structure and the other end to the rear axle of their car.

Then one of them put the car in gear and stepped on the gas. The tower did not budge an inch, but the car went off in two directions.

College Move Stalled Now By Site Policy

I-J Special Report SACRAMENTO - Plans for acquisition of a state college site in the North Bay area are temporarily stalled on a "legislative definition of policy," a state official said today.

H. C. Vincent Jr., chief of the property acquisition division of the Department of Finance, said that the search has been tentatively narrowed to "about half a dozen proposed sites, including one near Novato." Originally 29 sites were proposed.

"There doesn't appear to be any problem to find a suitable site in Marin, the Santa Rosa-Petaluma area, Sonoma Valley or the Napa-Vallejo area," he declared. "What we need is a decision on geography."

The main problem he said, is whether the proposed college would serve the students from Contra Costa County as well as those from the four North Bay counties.

"If we are to consider the In Education Contra Costa students as well, it will make a difference as to the most efficient location," Vincent pointed out.
